

Underwater Photo Contest

July 2009

The SeaDoc Society is sponsoring an amateur underwater photography contest for the Salish Sea. The contest will be coupled with the Reef Environmental Education Foundation's (REEF) Great Annual Fish Count and entry is free.

Any diver who conducts and submits a REEF survey during the month of July will be eligible to submit one photograph taken during that survey. The number of entries per photographer is only limited by the number of REEF surveys conducted – conduct 10 surveys, submit 10 images.

For more information about the SeaDoc Society or the July underwater photo contest, including prizes, categories, and how to submit photos, please see www.seadocsociety.org.

Winning 2008 photo by Pete Naylor